Gala Hallowe'en Parties Planned

Plans for another big community Hallowe'en party similar to those of last year are in the making.

At a meeting of the Andover Recreation committee this week representatives of several cooperating organizations joined in preliminary arrangements for a program intended to improve on last year's gala events to entertain the younger population on that occasion.

One of the big features will be the parade of horrors and other costumed youngsters early in the evening. They will march to the Memorial auditorium where the younger fry will have a Hallowe'en party of their own and the teenagers will follow with a dance.

Other arrangements similar to those of a year ago will be made for Ballardvale, West Center, Indian Ridge and the North districts.

World Ills Yield To Spiritual Means

Overwhelming proof that the spiritual understanding of God heals sickness as well as sin, and corrects human discords is a matter of record today, Frank T. Hord of Washington, D.C., told a large audience at the South church Sunday afternoon.

Present-day results of spiritual understanding contrast sharply with the widely admitted failure of materialism to solve mankind's problems, he said.

"Our more discerning thinkers are telling us that the cure for the ills of the world is to be found in the spiritual teachings of Christ Jesus," he declared.

A former army combat chaplain, Mr. Hord is on tour as a member of the Christian Science board of lecturers. He spoke under the sponsorship of the Christian Science society in Andover. He was introduced by Miss Marion R. McPherson, C.S., first reader. He spoke on "Christian Science: Its Practical Operation."

Sketching the growing spiritual enlightenment of today and its fruits, Mr. Hord said: "Humanity is being healed of so-called incurable diseases by spiritual means; reforms are being made in business methods; theological theories have undergone great change, and ethics in general has improved.

He said the Divine Principle of scientific mental healing offers mankind deliverance from all types of trouble — all that would hinder freedom, happiness, or health, because it is understood and applied on the basis of a perfect God, perfect divine law, and perfect spiritual man in His likeness.

"Our great Master taught us that we must understand God if we wish to life harmoniously," he said. "Every event of your life, your health, longevity, prosperity, and progress depends upon what you know about God."

According to Mr. Hord, the scientific understanding of Christ Jesus' teachings — "the Science of Christianity with its lost art of healing," — is restored in the healing work of Christian Science. He said the method of this work is described clearly in the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer and founder of Christian Science. Basic to these teachings is a fuller love for and understanding of God as an everpresent help in daily affairs, he stated.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FRIDAY

The public schools will be closed all day Friday to allow teachers to attend the annual Essex County Teachers association convention to be held in Boston.

Discontinue Patrol On Routes 2 & 128

Gov. Christian A. Herter and John A. Volpe, state public works commissioner have announced that they have ordered the discontinuance of the highway patrol on Routes 2 and 128 because they cost the taxpayers of Massachusetts in excess of $150,000 a year, while only required to assist less than a dozen motorists on each of the highways on an average day.

Commissioner Volpe said it was not the governor's intention to leave stranded motorists to shift for themselves. Volpe said that acting on the governor's instructions he conferred with Commissioner Otis Whitney of the department of public safety and the latter agreed that the state police will assume the task of securing necessary help for motorists who are out of gas or whose cars are otherwise disabled.

asked, and then went on to say that the community behind them was responsible. "Every public office", he added, "demands the very finest you can get to fill that job."

Speaking of the legislators from this district he said that the work of Senator Adams and Representatives J. Everett Collins, William Longworth and Frank Giles in Boston marked them as being sound and responsible, giving Andover good representation at the state house.

The three great dangers that face America now, he said, were communism which attacks us by force of arms and force of ideas and must be routed out wherever it is found; corruption, which honest, decent men seek to expose; and the third, the indifferent citizen.

"The man or woman who neglects the obligation of citizenship is the greatest threat to the nation".

He said we won World War II because 15 million men, and women, too, put on uniforms and did the job. When one faltered there was always another to take his place.

"We brought the war in Korea to a successful conclusion," he noted, "but we can lose all we have gained if we allow ourselves to become indifferent."

While we are on the verge of an atomic era with tremendous questions to be settled in the days ahead he felt that if we live up to the individual obligations that are upon us and if each will live up to his responsibilities, we need have no fear of the future.

The meeting was the first under the new officers with President Irving J. Whitcomb presiding. At the opening of the session the Rev. John G. Gaskill of the West Parish church gave the blessing.

The club stood in silence for 15 seconds in memory of their late member, Henry H. Hopper, who was always active in the affairs of the organization.

Before he left for another speaking engagement in Lawrence the lieutenant governor drew the name of William H. Faulkner as winner of the free dinner.

The guests at the meeting included the following: Calvin A. Wood, Allen M. Flye, Gleyann Yeaton, Drummond Bisset, William Edwards, Frank Richards, Alexander D. Gibson, Lionel A. Goulet, Lawrence P. Morrisroe, Ernest Krakauer, J. A. Britt, Paul A. Hopkins, Lindsay J. March, William J. Igoo, Adam Murray, Donald Thompson, Alfred F. Souter, H. Hopkins, and Sgt. John LaPointe, aide to Mr. Whittier.

A Real "Best Seller"

Not all "best sellers" are exotic novels or Kinsey reports!

A good example is the new edition of a booklet called "Investment Facts About Common Stocks and Cash Dividends" which is published for free distribution by members and member firms of the New York Stock Exchange. The booklet first appeared in 1949 and has gone through 12 editions. Its distribution is topping the 3,300,000 mark.

The booklet is factual and nontechnical. It tells what a stock is, how to choose an investment, how to open a brokerage account, why the institution of stock exchange exists, and details the recent financial history of several hundred common stocks. One of its most interesting sections has to do with investors. Close to 6,500,000 individuals own stocks, and if you think they are all wealthy or even unusually well-to-do, you're wrong. The great majority of them - 4,930,000 - have incomes of from less than $5,000 to $10,000 a year. Only 1,560,000 are in the over-$10,000 bracket.

What that means is that the market for securities is substantially broader than it used to be - 6,500,000 stockholders is an impressive figure, particularly in the light of the fact that almost all of them are family people so that one of more additional individuals are involved in the ownership.

Fire Prevention

Nine out of ten fires are preventable says the National Fire Protection association in calling attention to Fire Prevention week which will be observed October 4 to 10.

In its campaign to prevent fires in homes which annually cause great loss of lives and millions of dollars damage to property the association points out a number of common fire hazards.

Here's the list: overloaded electric outlets; "junk" in cellar, attic or closets; frayed electric cords; ordinary extension cords on heaters, irons; smoking in bed; matches left near children; chimneys that spark; unsquashed cigarette butts; flammable cleaning fluids.

The best time to fight fire in your home is right now. Don't give a fire a place to start.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago - October 1903

The Andover roller polo team will enter the roller polo league made up of teams in the Greater Lawrence area.

John Batchelder, organist and choirmaster at Christ church for a number of years, has been granted a year's leave of absence to study abroad.

Phillips academy opened its football season Saturday with a 32-0 victory over Needham A.C.

Mrs. Robert Callahan, who on Sept. 25 observed her 91st birthday, was greeted by many friends and presented with a purse of gold that contained more dollars than she had years of life.

The town at present is paying per day the following sums for the transportation of school children; from Haggett's, 7 pupils, 75 cents; from Ballardvale, 16 pupils, $1.11; from Scotland district, 16 pupils, 80 cents; from Holt district, 12 pupils, $2.

Enrollment in schools is as follows: Punchard, 124; Stowe, 258; John Dove, 284; Indian Ridge, 171; Bradlee, 145; Richardson, 59; West Center, 34; North, 20; Abbot, 30; Bailey, 12; Osgood, 24; total, 1161.

Ballardvale won the baseball championship of the town Saturday by defeating the Andover 6-5 in the rubber game of the series played at Glen Forest.

In a letter to the editor a correspondent says that the Vale claim to the championship was not fairly earned as the club used players who were hired for the purpose, the battery coming from Wakefield.

Mrs. Mary (Lahey) Stack, died at her home on Pearson st., at the advanced age of 94.

Republican convention at Salem defeats County Treasurer E. Kendall Jenkins of Andover for re-nomination. He finished third in a field of four. He was an excellent official, we say editorially, and deserved better treatment from the party.

25 Years Ago - October 1928

Daylight saving time ended Sunday morning.

Mrs. Bessie P. Goldsmith of The Townsman office is convalescing from a serious operation at the Parkway hospital, Brookline.

Fire in the chimney at "The Croft" the estate of M. J. Curran, was extinguished Monday night with slight damage.

Andover's quota in the annual Red Cross fund drive will be $900.

A jolly evening of entertainment was enjoyed at the Free church Wednesday as the first of a monthly series of socials was held under the district committee.

George A. Christie, who is spending his vacation in Jackson, N.H., describes in letter to The Townsman the thrilling adventure he experienced in climbing Mount Washington, which he accomplished

Police puzzled over mysterious death of Irving S. Hussey, 37, of Malden, a shipyard worker who was found stricken on Red Spring rd., late Friday night. He died on being removed to the Lawrence General hospital. Autopsy showed the cause of death to be a fractured skull but he had no outward sign of the injury.

Your Home Freezer, Smith. Step-by-step information in the process of home freezing which makes this form of food preservation simple and sure.

The Unconquered, Williams. For those who enjoyed "House Divided", Ben Ames Williams' earlier book, this New Orleans story of the Reconstruction period will be a treat.

The House Of Moreys, Bentley. Eleanor Moreys, alone and penniless, is instrumental in setting to rights the old family which has been cursed with tragedy for years. Fine feeling for the English village life which it portrays.

Hardy Addresses Women Voters

Members of the Andover League of Women Voters turned out in large numbers Tuesday noon at the annual fall luncheon at the Andover Country club and heard Roy E. Hardy, chairman of the board of selectmen, give some interesting and illuminating facts on "Town Affairs."

In his address Mr. Hardy touched not only upon the duties of town officials but also on the social welfare, education, taxation and finance of the town. Following his remarks there was a question period and many questions bearing on each of these subjects as well as other matters such as zoning and social security were asked.

Mrs. Rodney Long, a member of the state finance board of the League of Women Voters officially opened the finance drive of the Andover League by talking to the captains and workers. Mrs. Harold Rafton of Andover, a former member of the state board, also spoke. The finance drive will continue from Oct. 1 to 7. Mrs. David Donnan of Roxford is the chairman.

Sees Lively Curiosity Here In Town's Public Business

Under the title, "Strictly for Amateurs," our journalistic contemporary across the Merrimack, The Evening Tribune of Lawrence, has pointed its editorial finger at one of the tender spots in our local government — the continued practice of the Andover selectmen in holding their meetings in private in view of the lively interest many local residents take in the town's public affairs.

Upon this topic The Tribune says: "The other day when we made the suggestion that somebody ought to sponsor an essay contest in Andover on the subject of the People's Right to Know, we were not aware that the Andover League of Women Voters was ready to launch a Know Your Town study. We were not aware, either, that Roy E. Hardy, chairman of the board of selectmen in Andover, had been invited to start things off with a lecture on town affairs. If we had known, we probably would have commented on it in our previous editorial, exhibiting it as evidence that there is a lively curiosity among people in Andover about the public business, or else why the demand for enlightenment upon the subject?

"However, as praiseworthy as we regard the program which the League plans to carry out, we are of the opinion that in order to get to know town affairs, really, something more is required than a casual lecture, however authoritative and expert. The good ladies of the League undoubtedly count among their number a high proportion of excellent cooks, who in order to acquire their proficiency, had to log many hours of direct, personal experimentation with the culinary problems which they now subdue so deftly and delectably. And it is hardly necessary to point that the arena where this triumph took place was the kitchen, not the living room. Same thing with town affairs. Having the urbane Mr. Hardy appear at a meeting at the Andover country club to discuss town affairs in a way which necessarily must be elliptical and general is not quite the same thing as being able to watch him and his colleagues in action each week at their regular meetings. Our point is that accomplished women well versed in practical matters would undoubtedly prefer to make their own generalities from firsthand observation, which, as it happens, is the rule of thumb of the democratic process.

"We have no doubt but that Mr. Hardy qualifies as an expert on town affairs. He has had so much experience at town government that it would not be overstatement to say that he may now be classified as professional. But the hitch here is that our peculiar form of government was not designed to be run unaided and alone by "experts" or "professionals"; it is strictly for amateurs — the man in the street, the members of the League of Women Voters, the doctor, the textile worker, the waitress — all the John and Jane Does whose collective amateurism, as symbolized by the votes they cast on election day, makes the wheels go around.

"The signal virtue of democracy, as we see it, is that it can be run by amateurs — splendidly. Of course, Mr. Hardy and his colleagues do not agree with this; they do not seem to have much confidence in the people. We predict, however, that government by the people will survive the jaundiced view that they take of it."

Courteous Circle Members Observe 65th Anniversary

The 65th anniversary of Courteous Circle of The King's Daughters was held Monday evening in the South church vestry with an attendance of over 60 members and guests.

At 6 o'clock the gathering sat down to a bounteous supper after being welcomed by the leader, Mrs. Ernest C. Edmands. Grace was offered by a former leader, Mrs. Thaxter Eaton.

The tables were beautifully decorated in purple and silver, the colors of the order, by Mrs. Ralph Hadley and Mrs. Joseph Higginson.

The guest of honor for the occasion was Miss Florence Abbott, the only charter member of the original group who formed the Courteous Circle 65 years ago under Mrs. Elizabeth Abbott Pratt. Other invited guests at the head table were: Mrs. J. E. Vaughan of Whitman, state president; Mrs. Evelyn Kent and Miss Pendlebury of Alpha Circle, Lawrence; Mrs. Louise Trull, a former member and leader, of North Tewksbury; Mrs. V. D. Harrington, a former leader, of Waban, and three members who have been with the order for over 50 years, Miss C. Madeleine Hewes, Mrs. William Gibson and Miss Alice Whitney.

A birthday cake decorated with purple and silver was cut by Miss Abbott and passed to each one present.

In the business meeting the program was inaugurated by Miss Hewes with devotions for the day. She also gave an interesting resume of the beginning of the order and Courteous Circle, it being one of the oldest branches in the country. Miss Abbott and Mrs. Trull spoke briefly of earlier days.

The Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South church, gave a short talk and the rededication was given by Miss Fannie Davis.

As guest of honor Miss Abbott was presented with a corsage by Mrs. Edmands and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Hi Pop!

"Maine men seldom betray their emotions, deep as their feelings may be," remarked an old newspaper man while sipping a mint julep in the lounge of the National Press club in Washington.

"One day, a few years ago, I was headed out to sea on a sloop and passed an inbound schooner.

"My captain took his pipe out of his mouth long enough to say to the young man at the schooner wheel, 'How d'ye do?'"

"And the youngster responded: 'Nicely,' and each boat held to its course."

"After an interval the captain turned to me and observed: 'She's been in southern waters. That's my son. Ain't seen him for nigh on to two years.'"

May Get Service
Over Private Way

Residents of York street who opposed the petition of the Lawrence Electric Co., to erect poles on the street opposite the Shaw-sheen Mills may get their power through a different route.

Appearing at a meeting of the board of selectmen Monday night Henry Barry of the electric company stated that the prospects seemed good for the residents of that area to get service by bringing in wires over a private way. This would eliminate the erection of poles on that section of the street which the company desired in order to supplement underground service there.

The company was granted two pole locations on Osgood street to service some new homes and was granted permission for six poles on Dale street, Ballardvale. Some of the latter are merely approval of the poles on a public way which once was a private way.

The fire, which was eating its way up through partitions to the second floor, was handled so effectively that John J. Hewitt, proprietor, referred to the local department as the best in the state.

in place. Supt. Edward R. Lawson of the board of public works says that the more this area is used with the sand on it for the next few weeks the better it will be for the surface.

Eventually this sand will be swept off and the whole area marked in rows for parking.

Harold E. Heseltine, president of the Andover board of trade, is quite pleased that the place is ready now for parking. He said the board has advocated this improvement and hopes to have more in other sections near the business district.

"With the cooperation of the townspeople and the town fathers," he said, "we hope to have other free parking areas for motorists."

"With the new Western Electric company plant coming into North Andover there will be an even greater flow of business toward this town and we hope that another such parking space will be ready by the time that plant opens."

"It is going to help the whole town. The area at the Shaw property is only a few minutes walk from Elm square and most convenient for all persons of the town who come in for shopping or any other business."

A new sign is being prepared to be placed at the entrance of the new area on Main street and should be ready in a few days.

Protest Noise Of Heavy Trucks

A written protest against the noise of heavy cement mixing trucks that climb Brooks and Central streets daily was before the selectmen at Monday night's meeting.

The petition, signed by 16 property owners and residents of both streets, was discussed at some length and it was decided to have Police Chief David L. Nicoll make a check of the trucking on both thoroughfares and report back.

It is understood that if the conditions are as stated in the petition the trucking firm will be asked to have its trucks go over a different
